Program Description

Caregivers help family or friends with challenges due to work, illness, disability or aging. This program will prepare you for either care of children or the elderly job roles.

Home child caregiver provides care for the physical and social well-being and development of children, assist parents with childcare and may assist with household duties. They provide care primarily in their own homes or in the children's homes.

As the population is aging, people are living longer with illness and disability. As care-needs grow, we rely on caregivers to fill in the gaps. Caregivers are also provided with strategies and suggestions for developing strong networks in the community and with other caregivers.

What can I do with a Caregiver Certificate?

Caregivers can be employed by private households, private care agencies, long term care facilities, not-for-profit charitable agencies, home care, within the community, and assisted living facilities and lodges. You can also be self employed.

At Canadian Imperial College we are in the business of opening possibilities and creating opportunities.
